CHIPS.

There are twenty-two regularly licensed meat factories in the United States, to say nothing about the numberless parlors and front stoops.—Lockport Union.

A Kentucky cow has given birth to ten calves in three years. What the Kentucky cow can't make the Kentucky cow do, isn't of sufficient importance to put on record.—Durham Herald.

A polite and athletic young lady up town is too too to speak of the English poet as Chaucer, so she calls him Chawser. She may choose her own method of pronunciation.—Stevensville Herald.

"When I was an infant," said Fogg, "the women were forever kissing me. And," he added, "I have done what I could to get square with them since I have grown to years of discretion."—Boston Transcript.

Two little girls, aged 4 and 6, had just had new dresses, and were on their way to Sunday school. Said Etta, the elder: "Oh, I have forgotten mine." replied the other. "It is, 'Blessed are the dressmakers.'"—Boston Transcript.

A Rockland mother went to the door and called the heir into the house. "You weren't sliding on Sunday, were you, Freddie?" she reproachfully exclaimed. "No, mother," replied the youthful Freddie proudly: "I cannot tell a lie—I was sliding on the ice."—Rockland Courier.

The Hotel Reporter is publishing a recipe, "How to Sleep in a Sleeping Car." Place no dependence on it; it is intended to deceive. In the lexicon of Pullman or Wagner there's no such word as sleep. The price for an attempt, however—$2—remains as before.—Lockport Union.

Dr. Bliss has put in a bill for $25,000 for curing the President. We thought one spell, when Bliss was so much affected over the death of his friend that he cried like a child, that his bill would not be over $24,000, but it seems as though his grief were off a thousand dollars worth when he took his pen in hand and made out the bill.—George Peck.

The commercial traveler of a Philadelphia house, while in Tennessee, approached a stranger as the train was about to start, and said: "Are you going on this train?" "I am," "Have you any baggage?" "No," "Well, my friend, you can do me a favor, and it won't cost you anything. You see, I've got two rousing big trunks, and they always make me pay extra for one of them. You can get one checked on your ticket, and we'll each have one. See?" "Yes, I see; but I haven't got any ticket." "But I thought you said you were going on this train?" "So I am. I'm the conductor." "Oh! He paid extra as usual."—Philadelphia Dispatch.

Educated abroad: Among the wealthy and fashionable audience that graced the occasion of the opening of Wallace's Theatre was Geraldine De Vere Percival, the highly cultivated daughter of a millionaire Cincinnati pack-packer, who had expended, it is said, some $5,000 a year on her education abroad. She had heard of the "School for Scandal," but had never seen it performed. After Mr. Wallace's remarks she noticed with surprise that the play was resumed and asked: "Is nobody else going to speak?" "Not that I know of," responded her escort. "How strange," continued the fair Cincinnati, "I think they might at least have called out Mr. Sheridan. Didn't he write the play?"—Brooklyn Eagle.

A TALE WITH A NICE MORAL.—A Rochester girl of poor but honest parents went to the theatre Saturday night and walked down the main aisle of the Corinthian Academy of Music wearing upon her head a very small and exceedingly pretty hat. She sat down in the seat directly in front of the one occupied by one of the millionaires of the city. His astonishment was profound. He could scarcely comprehend it. He leaned over and asked her if she owned a cart-wheel hat. She replied that she did, but never wore it to the theatre. Still more astonished the millionaire leaned back in his seat almost overcome. After the performance he offered her his hand, was accepted, and has agreed to settle $250,000 in United States bonds upon her on the morning of their wedding day.—Rochester Express.

SILVER CREEK, N. Y., Feb. 6, 1880.

GENTS—I have been very low, and have tried everything to no advantage. I heard your Hop Bitters recommended by so many I concluded to give them a trial. I did, and now am around, and constantly improving, and am nearly as strong as ever. W. H. WELLES.

General Lee is said to have asked a stranger, whom he found eating green persimmons, if he did not know they were unfit for food. "I'm not eating them for food, general," replied the man, "I'm eating them to draw up my stomach to fit my rations."—Unidentified Exchange.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RESTORER is a scientific combination of some of the most powerful restorative agents in the vegetable kingdom. It restores gray hair to its original color. It makes the scalp white and clean. It cures dandruff and humors, and falling-out of the hair. It furnishes the nutritive principle by which the hair is nourished and supported. It makes the hair moist, soft and glossy, and is unsurpassed as a hair dressing. It is the most economical preparation ever offered to the public, as its effects remain a long time, making only an occasional application necessary. It is recommended and used by eminent medical men, and officially endorsed by the State Assayer of Massachusetts. The popularity of Hall's Hair Restorer has increased with the test of many years, both in this country and in foreign lands, and it is now known and used in all the civilized countries of the world.

For sale by all dealers.

The Farm.

PROTECTING DAIRY STOCK.

If a farmer were to go to his bank and ask the loan of a small sum of money upon good security, he would be surprised and indignant if the charge for its use were ten per cent. for a day; and yet this is precisely what lack of protection from cold and storms is doing for the dairyman. A day's cold storm in October exacts its ten per cent. in milk; a few hours in the stalk field in December or January passes into the milkman a discount check for 10 and even 20 per cent. He quietly pays this bill; for which he never received a cent of advantage, and does not call the storm any hard names for mauling him. Perhaps he does not know how much he pays. Weigh the milk that will tell part. The principle of loss by exposure is explained by an exchange as follows:

The cow that is tied in a dry, well-bedded stall, is fed there, and allowed to remain till digestion is pretty nearly accomplished, will go through the process more expeditiously than in a condition where less comfort is guaranteed. The explanation is very simple. If the circulation be undisturbed by cold—allowed to remain in its natural channels—it will flow to the stomach during the digestive process in exactly the amount required—in other words, in a lighter, freer quantity than when the organ is at rest. After the process is completed, the extra flow will return to the general circulation. Now, as stated, the undue exposure to which farm stock is subjected in inclement weather, is damaging alike to the beast and the purse of its owner. The abstraction of heat in resisting undue cold, the interruption of digestion in the manner named, and the appropriation of the accumulated fat to enable the system to carry on its war with the elements, are reasons sufficient to deter any man from leaving stock in the open air, to their discomfort.

It is estimated that within ten years 1,000,000 acres of land have gone out of cultivation in England, that is, have been turned into grass. At the present time in Great Britain beef pays better than wheat.

Mr. Aristides Welch, whose stock farm, Erdenheim, at Chestnut Hill, Pa., is celebrated all over the country as the birthplace of some of the most noted horses that ever ran on the turf, has sold his farm and entire stock, comprising about eighty horses, mares and colts, among which are Alarm and Reform, two noted stallions, and Maggie B. B., the dam of Ironclad, to Commodore Kittson, of Minnesota, for the sum of $100,000. The farm and stock has been held at $150,000, but Mr. Welch desiring to visit Europe, determined to sell out even at a pecuniary sacrifice.

EDITED BY W. C. T. U.

A young man in Lexington, Ky., who had squandered a large patrimony for drink, called on a physician in that city one day and said: "Doctor, there's something down in my throat; I wish you would make an examination and see if you can discover anything." The young man took a seat, and the doctor, after a careful examination, said he was unable to perceive anything unusual in the particular locality indicated. "There is something there, look again," said the young man earnestly. The doctor did as requested, and again pronounced the search fruitless. "Take your probe, doctor," said the young man excitedly, "take your probe and look way down deep." The doctor again examined the young man's throat with his probe and said somewhat angrily: "There's nothing there, I tell you; you are making a fool of yourself and me too, and I won't bother with you any longer; I tell you once more for the last time that there's nothing there." "I tell you there is," said the young man in a tone of desperation, "there's a plantation of five hundred acres and two hundred and fifty negroes down there; I've swallowed the whole in the last ten years."

It is said the members of the House Committee on Elections are generally of opinion that neither Cannon nor Campbell is entitled to a seat as Delegate from Utah. The Committee will first inquire whether Cannon is an alien, and then decide upon a proposition to refer back the whole matter to the people of Utah for a new election.

The celebrated remedy Kidney-Wort can now be obtained in the usual dry vegetable form, or in liquid form, for the special convenience of those who cannot readily prepare it. It will be found very concentrated and will act with equal efficiency in either case. Be sure and read the new advertisement for particulars.—South and West.

F. H. DRAKE'S SUFFERINGS.—F. H. Drake, Esq., Detroit, Mich., suffered beyond all description from a skin disease, which appeared on his hands, head and face, and nearly destroyed his eyes. The most careful doctoring failed to help him, and after all had failed, he used the Cuticura Resolvent (blood purifier) internally, Cuticura and Cuticura Soap (the great skin cures) externally, and was cured, and has remained perfectly well to this day.

It is one of the unexplained things of moral ethics how people decide so promptly as to how little rain and bad weather it takes to keep them away from prayer meeting, and how much is required to keep them away from a good show.—Stevensville Herald.

SOME of the star route cases will be brought before the Grand Jury within ten days or two weeks. The Dorsey routes will be the first taken up by the government.

Rescued From Death.—The following statement of William J. Connelley, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of 1879 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and sleep. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1880 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctor in my room told me that I was as big as a half dollar.
